Executive Summary

Shortly before midnight on Oct. 11, 1999, Stanley “Ted” Adams, a 33-year-old man with a troubled past and a long history of crime, was out of drugs and out of money. But he had a plan to fix both problems. He would break into the Warren, Ohio, home where Esther Cook, a 43-year-old single mom, lived with her 12-year-old daughter, Ashley, and steal any money he could find.

Adams knew the Cooks well. That’s because he was the boyfriend of a woman named Janelle Hartle, whose father, James Hartle, also was Ashley’s father. So Janelle was Ashley’s older half-sister, and if Adams and Janelle had been married, 12-year-old Ashley would have been Adams’ sister-in-law.

Adams also knew the house well because he and Janelle had lived with Esther and Ashley for several months the previous spring until the couple found a place of their own.

The only person who knows every detail of what transpired in Esther Cook’s house that night is Adams because he is the only one who left the house alive. But this is what police and Trumbull County Prosecutor Dennis Watkins were able to prove to the jury: After breaking in, Adams fatally beat and stabbed Esther, apparently with a crowbar. Then he beat and raped 12-year-old Ashley vaginally, anally, and orally, and strangled her with an electric cord. Before leaving, he posed various items of jewelry on her traumatized and lifeless body.

In a final cruel twist, the man who made her last minutes of life a nightmare of terror and pain would be one of the pallbearers at Ashley’s funeral.

A year later, Adams was charged with the murders and, almost a year after that, was convicted and sentenced to death. Around the same time, in a separate trial, he was convicted of the earlier rape and murder of a Poland Township woman named Roslyn Taylor, for which he was sentenced to 25 years to life.

He has been evading his death sentence for the Cook murders ever since, still sitting on Death Row more than 22 years later, a fact that continues to astonish, bewilder, and drive Ashley’s twin older sisters to tears.

“We have a judicial system, laws and the death penalty for a reason,” said Kellie Brooks, who was 16 at the time of her sister’s murder. “Ted has been found guilty. They have the proof; they had the blood; they had semen. DNA doesn’t lie. He exhausted all of his appeals years ago.”

Her twin sister, Kimberly Cook, echoes that frustration: “I’m always going to feel the grief of not being able to grow up with my mother. And my kids don’t have a grandma. I’m always going to feel hurt and there’s always going to be an empty spot in my heart. But at least I know if I can’t have her, I should have justice for what has been done.”

The sisters want to know why Ohio’s elected leaders have allowed the system to perpetuate their pain and postpone Adams’ punishment. Adams has had his execution rescheduled twice, ostensibly because the state cannot obtain the drugs necessary to carry out the sentence. His execution is now set for Feb. 19, 2025, but if the current impasse continues, there is no guarantee that it will be carried out then, either.

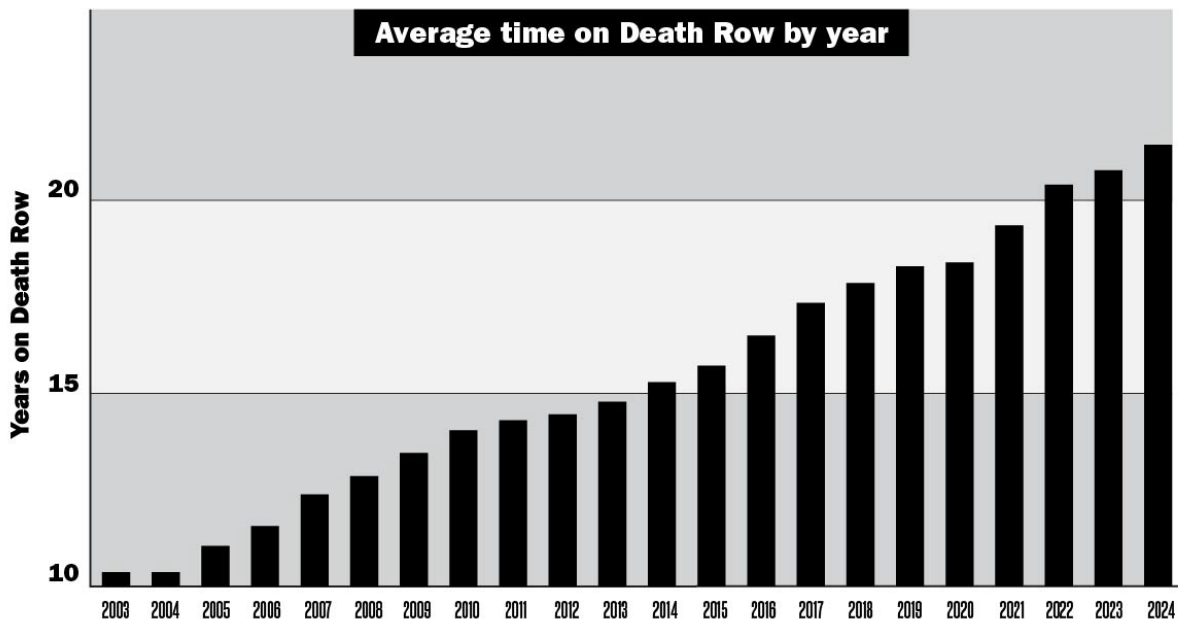

“You don’t really know until it happens to you — the severity and the impact — and how much it changes your heart, mind and soul,” Cook said. “It changes every day and your every thought. And the fact that there is no justice is worse.”

The sisters’ frustration and anguish are familiar to scores of other Ohio families who lost loved ones to brutal violence, only to see the perpetrators evade justice year after year because Ohio’s capital-punishment system makes promises of justice that it does not keep.

This failure is documented in this annual Capital Crimes report, which outlines the history of Ohio’s capital-punishment system, lists those who inhabit Death Row and why, and the status of their sentences and appeals.

The report is damning.

At present, an inmate on Ohio’s Death Row spends an average of 21.37 years on Death Row — mostly as a result of multiple avenues for appeal — before an execution is carried out. And currently, because of the state’s inability to secure execution drugs, no Death Row inmate faces imminent execution. This means that an inmate is more likely to die of suicide or natural causes than execution.

This broken system is also enormously expensive. Although the precise cost of Ohio's death-penalty system has never been determined, the Ohio Legislative Service Commission notes:

A mix of quantitative and qualitative studies of other states have found that the cost of a case in which a death penalty has been sought and imposed is higher, perhaps significantly so, than a murder case in which life imprisonment has been imposed. These studies generally support the following conclusions:

- In some states, capital cases exceed the cost of life imprisonment cases in the range of up to between $1 million and $3 million per case.
- The total amount expended in a capital case is between two and a half and five times as much as a noncapital case.

If these estimates apply to Ohio, then the extra cost of imposing the death penalty 121 times on the 119 people currently on Death Row might range from $121 million to $363 million.

The costs of capital punishment are the costs of ensuring justice: that we get it right, that mistakes are corrected, and that the worst of the worst offenders never offend again — even in prison.

But it's a stunning amount of money to spend on a program that doesn't achieve its purpose.

If we were starting from scratch to design a system for the ultimate punishment — whether that punishment is execution or, instead, life in prison without parole — neither death-penalty opponents nor death-penalty supporters would create anything like Ohio's current system, which produces churn, waste, and endless lawsuits but nothing else.

From the time that Ohio's death-penalty law was enacted in 1981 until Dec. 31, 2023, 336 people have received a death sentence. Five of these people received two death sentences, resulting in a total of 341 death sentences.

But of those, only 56 sentences — just one of every six — have been carried out. Nearly the same number of inmates have had their sentences commuted (21) or died of natural causes or suicide before the sentence could be imposed (40). Nine have been removed because they are intellectually disabled and therefore constitutionally ineligible for the death penalty. Six have been removed because they suffered from serious mental illness. Thirty-five additional mental illness petitions remain pending in the state courts that could lead to additional defendants having their sentences reduced to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole.

As of Dec. 31, 2023, 87 death sentences have been removed by judicial action resulting in resentencing or release. Most were removed because of legal errors, such as ineffective assistance of counsel, Brady violations, juror errors, or appellate court determinations that the aggravating circumstances of the crime did not outweigh the mitigating factors beyond a reasonable doubt. (Note: Rather than show a flaw in Ohio's capital-punishment system, these removals show the appellate process working as it should to prevent an injustice.)

Just one Death Row inmate, Dale Johnston, a pre-DNA case, was removed from Death Row for reasons that can be fairly attributed to his actual innocence of the double homicide for which he was convicted.

There currently are 119 people (with 121 death sentences) on Death Row. Their sentences have been delayed because Ohio currently lacks a means of lethal injection (the only method of execution permitted under state law), or because inmates are taking advantage of multiple avenues for appeal (detailed later in this report).

These delays are aggravated by judges who fail to move cases in a timely way. For example, at the end of 2023, there were 18 death-penalty cases that had been pending for more than 10 years in federal district court. Twelve federal cases have seen no meaningful activity for two years. There were eight cases pending in state courts that have seen no meaningful activity in the past two years. There were nine death-penalty cases in which state and federal reviews have been completed but the prosecution has not yet filed a motion with the Ohio Supreme Court to set a date for the sentence to be carried out. (See tables at the end of this summary).

In short, Ohio imposes death sentences on perpetrators of brutal and revolting murders such as those perpetrated against Esther and Ashley Cook, then spends years debating, reviewing, appealing, and failing to act on those decisions.

The following numbers illustrate the glacial pace of capital cases:

- Average age of person on Death Row (as of April 1, 2024) = 55.52 years
- Average age at sentencing (taking most current resentencing) = 34.04 years
- Average days on Death Row (as of April 1, 2024) = 7805.08 days (21.37 years)
- Average time on Death Row of person executed (as of the date of the last execution in 2018) = 6,280 days (17.19 years)

The horrific crimes against Esther and Ashley Cook and others detailed later in this report make abundantly clear why juries chose the ultimate punishment. These sentences were not imposed lightly or easily. Good and decent men and women serving on Ohio's juries carefully considered the evidence, the aggravating circumstances, and the mitigating factors. Then they made the most agonizing and morally harrowing decision anyone can make — to end the life of another human being.

These jurors have every reason to wonder why the legal system subjected them to such a grim and difficult duty when only one in six of these decisions is carried out. It is likely that some of these jurors passed away before the Death Row inmates they helped to sentence.

And if judges and juries have deemed a capital sentence to be the just punishment for a murder, is justice served if that sentence is never carried out? Consider, also, the families of the victims, such as Esther Cook's surviving children, for whom closure is impossible as long as these cases drag on. It is likely that members of victims' families have passed away, too, without seeing justice done.

Some try to feed suspicion of capital punishment based on claims about "exonerations."

In popular parlance, to say someone was exonerated means that the person was ultimately found innocent of the crime with which he or she was charged. But it is important to remember that this word can be used in misleading ways.

For example, an “exonerated” list prepared by the California Wrongful Convictions Project at the University of California at Berkeley includes any case in which the conviction was reversed and the accused was subsequently acquitted in a retrial or the charges were dismissed. In other words, these were cases in which a prosecutor decided that the remaining evidence was insufficient and dismissed the case, or a jury decided the remaining evidence was insufficient and returned an acquittal. These outcomes tell us nothing about the defendant’s actual guilt or innocence. To state it plainly, guilty people sometimes beat the rap. In fact, our system of justice is based on the idea that it is better for a guilty person to sometimes go unpunished than to erroneously convict someone who is innocent.

Naturally, the idea that the state might execute an innocent person is horrifying.

But in Ohio, there are no known instances in which a person has been executed for murder and later found to be innocent.

Also, the acceptance and accelerating use of DNA evidence in murder cases since the late 1990s has brought scientific certainty to determinations of guilt and innocence.

In short, much of the concern about capital punishment is based on the miscarriages of the past that have been eliminated by judicial safeguards and improvements in scientific investigative tools.

But even if Ohio’s system is trustworthy in its sentencing decisions, it is not trustworthy in carrying them out.

What is lacking is the political will to ensure that capital punishment is an effective tool for justice for those who perpetrate the most heinous crimes. Esther and Ashley Cook have been dead for 24 years, but their condemned killer is still waking up for breakfast every morning, courtesy of Ohio taxpayers.

This system is a testament to government impotence. At a time when faith in society’s institutions is at an all-time low, the failure of the capital-punishment system could be Exhibit A.

Ohio’s elected leaders should fix this.

Cases Pending in District Court in Which There Has Been No Meaningful Activity in the Past 2 Years (12)

As of 12/31/23, a total of 12 cases have been pending in District Court and have had no meaningful activity in the past 2 years.

Ballew, Tyrone: (Hamilton) (No meaningful activity since March 2017 – case stayed) On November 18, 1998, Ballew filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the district court. On September 27, 2001, the district court denied Ballew’s motion for an evidentiary hearing and granted Ballew’s motion to expand the record. On October 1, 2004, the case was reassigned from Judge Smith to Judge Watson. On June 14, 2013 and August 8, 2014, Ballew filed amended petitions to add claims challenging the constitutionality of lethal injection. On July 16, 2015, the Warden filed a motion to dismiss the lethal injection grounds, which the court denied on March 18, 2016. On March 24, 2017, the district court stayed the habeas case so Ballew could pursue a successive petition for postconviction relief, which he filed with the trial court on June 9, 2017, and which remains pending (see next section).

<sup>1</sup> On April 14, 2022, the district court denied Clifford Williams’ petition for a writ of habeas corpus, but because the district court partially granted Williams’s motion to alter or amend that judgment on March 29, 2023, the matter remains pending in the district court.

Elmore, Phillip: (Licking) (No meaningful activity since April 2021) On May 1, 2008, Elmore filed a habeas petition, which he amended on March 15, 2010, September 25, 2012, December 30, 2016, December 29, 2017, and March 18, 2018. The Warden filed an amended return of writ on April 18, 2018. On March 25, 2019, Elmore filed a motion to again amend his habeas petition, which the district court denied on July 13, 2019. On November 5, 2019, the district court denied Elmore's motions to transport for testing and to further stay his case. On June 22, 2020, the district court permitted Elmore to amend three claims; Elmore filed his amended petition on July 13, 2020. On August 12, 2020, the Warden filed an amended return of writ, and Elmore filed his amended traverse on September 14, 2020. On April 21, 2021, the district court denied without prejudice Elmore's October 30, 2020 renewed motion for an evidentiary hearing pending the completion of the state court proceedings.

Gapen, Larry: (Montgomery) (No meaningful activity since November 2013 – case stayed) On March 10, 2009, Gapen filed a habeas petition in the district court, which he amended on July 14, 2009. On October 31, 2011, the district court permitted limited depositions of the trial jurors. Following those depositions, on November 12, 2013, the district court stayed the case to allow Gapen to return to state court to pursue a motion for leave to file a motion for new trial. Gapen's state court litigation remains pending. Gapen filed another motion for leave to file a motion for new trial on January 6, 2023 after the U.S. Supreme Court denied certiorari on the denial of his October 2013 motion for leave to file a motion for new trial.

Jackson, Jeremiah: (Cuyahoga) (No meaningful activity since April 2020 – case stayed) On January 31, 2019, Jackson filed with the district court a petition for writ of habeas corpus, which he amended on February 26, 2020. The Warden filed a return of writ on April 01, 2019 and an amended return of writ on April 27, 2020. On March 30, 2021, the district court granted Jackson's June 26, 2020 motion to stay the habeas case so he could return to state court. On July 24, 2020, Jackson filed in the trial court a successive petition for postconviction relief. That litigation remains pending with both the State and Jackson filing proposed findings of fact and conclusions of law on October 20, 2023.

Martin, David: (Trumbull) (No meaningful activity since December 2021 – case stayed) On May 12, 2020, Martin filed with the district court a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which he amended on October 31, 2021. On December 28, 2021, the district court granted Martin's December 17, 2021 motion to stay proceedings while he exhausted his intellectual disability claims in state court. On March 29, 2022, Martin filed in the trial court a successive postconviction petition alleging his execution is barred due to intellectual disability. That litigation remains pending.

Monroe, Jonathon: (Franklin) (No meaningful activity since November 2020 – case stayed) On March 27, 2007, Monroe filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which he amended on April 1, 2016. On November 2, 2020, over the Warden's objections, the district court stayed the habeas case to permit Monroe to litigate claims in state court. Meanwhile, on December 29, 2017, Monroe filed in the trial court a successive petition for postconviction relief. That litigation remains pending, with discovery being conducted in 2023.

Myers, David: (Greene) (No meaningful activity since February 2020) On May 21, 2004, Myers filed a petition of for a writ of habeas corpus. On February 11, 2020, the district court granted Myers' March 29, 2019 motion to conduct new DNA testing on 22 items of evidence and ordered the parties to determine the location and status of the evidence, as well as to propose laboratories to conduct the testing. On July 21, 2020, the district court issued a revised testing order. On June 21, 2022, Myers filed in the trial court a motion for leave to file a motion for new trial and a successive postconviction relief petition, both of which he amended on April 28, 2023.

Robb, Jason: (Franklin (transferred from Scioto)) (No meaningful activity since March 2019) On June 3, 2002, Robb filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the district court. On September 16, 2004, the district court partially granted Robb's motion for discovery. On July 16, 2012, the district court permitted Robb to amend his petition to add claims challenging the constitutionality of lethal injection, which he then amended several times. The Warden filed an amended return of writ on March 21, 2017. On June 19, 2017, Robb filed a reply addressing issues of procedural default, which he supplemented on March 26, 2021. Meanwhile, on September 12, 2017, the district court denied Robb's January 11, 2017 motion to amend his petition to include a claim based upon Hurst v. Florida, and on March 18, 2019, denied Robb's latest motion to amend his lethal injection claims. During 2019, briefing was conducted regarding the manner in which discovery documents would be filed in this case and the other Lucasville-riot cases.

Rojas, Martin: (Hamilton) (No meaningful activity since September 2018) On October 4, 1996, Rojas filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the district court. On May 5, 2004, Rojas filed a supplemental memorandum in support of his habeas petition. On August 09, 2004, Rojas filed a motion for an evidentiary hearing. On May 20, 2011, Rojas and the Warden filed supplemental briefs. On June 28, 2011, the Warden opposed Rojas' request for an evidentiary hearing. On September 14, 2015, the district court set another briefing schedule. Rojas and the Warden filed additional briefs on January 4, 2016. The Warden filed an additional brief on February 26, 2016 and Rojas filed an additional brief on March 25, 2016. On July 11, 2017, the district court appointed new attorneys to represent Rojas. On November 9, 2017, Rojas filed, pro se, a motion to dismiss all appeals, which the district court denied on September 4, 2018 following a status conference with counsel.

Skatzes, George: (Montgomery (transferred from Scioto)) (No meaningful activity since June 2017) On April 5, 2010, Skatzes filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus. The Warden filed a return of writ on August 30, 2010. Between 2012 and 2014, the parties conducted extensive discovery. On May 23, 2016, the court denied Skatzes' September 30, 2014 and October 30, 2014 motions to expand the record. On June 1, 2017, the magistrate judge partially granted Skatzes' 2016 re-filed motions to expand the record, and Skatzes objected on June 15, 2017. Meanwhile, on June 6, 2017, reference of the case to a magistrate judge was vacated. On September 13, 2023, Skatzes filed a motion in the district court to expedite a decision in his habeas case due to his age and the length of time his case has been pending.

Waddy, Warren: (Franklin) (No meaningful activity since April 2015) On February 26, 1998, Waddy filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the district court. On April 6, 2012, the district court permitted Waddy to amend his petition to raise claims challenging the constitutionality of lethal injection, which he filed on April 11, 2012. Waddy again amended his habeas petition on January 8, 2013 to raise intellectual disability claims. The Warden filed an amended return of writ on May 31, 2013, and Waddy filed an amended traverse on December 9, 2013. On April 15, 2015, the district court denied Waddy's March 12, 2014 discovery request. On June 6, 2017, reference of the case to a magistrate judge was vacated. (see next section)

Wogenstahl, Jeffrey: (Hamilton) (No meaningful activity since September 2018 – successive habeas petition – case stayed) On September 4, 2018, the Sixth Circuit authorized Wogenstahl to file a successive habeas petition. The habeas case is stayed pending the completion of the state court litigation. (see next section) Despite the stay, Wogenstahl filed a motion for relief from the judgment which transferred his 2017 successive habeas petition to the Sixth Circuit. (Note: On January 25, 2024, the district court overruled Wogenstahl's objections to the magistrate judge's recommendations and denied his motion for relief from judgment. (Note: On June 10, 2019, Wogenstahl filed a third habeas petition on a jurisdictional issue, but on May 12, 2020, the 6th Circuit denied permission to proceed, and the U.S. Supreme Court denied Wogenstahl's October 6, 2020 petition for a writ of certiorari on January 11, 2021).

Cases Pending in State Court in Which There Has Been No Meaningful Activity in the Past 2 Years (8)

As of 12/31/23, a total of 8 cases have been pending in the State trial courts and have had no meaningful activity in the past 2 years.

Bays, Richard: (Greene) (Successive Atkins postconviction petition filed on May 16, 2013) (No meaningful activity since July 2019) On May 16, 2013, while his habeas petition was pending in district court, Bays filed a motion in the trial court to withdraw his 2007 voluntary dismissal of his Atkins petition and asked the court to allow him to relitigate his previously dismissed Atkins claims. On January 14, 2014, Bays filed motions for an evidentiary hearing and for relief from judgment in the trial court, which the trial court denied on May 5, 2014. On June 04, 2014, Bays appealed to the Second District Court of Appeals. On May 15, 2015, the Second District Court of Appeals affirmed the trial court's refusal to allow re-litigation of the dismissed claims but remanded the case back to the trial court for consideration of the claims as an entirely new Atkins petition. The Ohio Supreme Court denied Bays' appeal on August 31, 2016. On September 29, 2016, the State renewed the motion to dismiss the Atkins petition, which remains stayed despite the DNA testing being completed in October 2023. On July 3, 2019, the trial court denied Bays' April 22, 2019 pro se motion to vacate court costs. On February 2, 2022, the State filed a motion for a status conference, which was held on March 24, 2022. Meanwhile, on March 21, 2022, Bays requested more DNA testing, which the State opposed on March 28, 2022; ultimately two items were sent for additional testing.

Goff, James: (Clinton) (Petition for postconviction relief filed on December 20, 2016) (No meaningful activity since December 2016) On April 6, 2010, the 6th Circuit granted Goff habeas relief conditioned upon the state courts reopening Goff's direct appeal. Upon reopening his direct appeal, on March 19, 2012, the 12th District Court of Appeals again affirmed Goff's conviction but remanded the case back to the trial court for resentencing because the trial court failed to inform Goff of his right to allocution. On August 4, 2015, the trial court again sentenced Goff to death; the state court of appeals affirmed his death sentence on November 22, 2016; and the Ohio Supreme Court affirmed on September 20, 2018. Meanwhile, on December 20, 2016, Goff filed with the trial court a petition for postconviction relief and a motion for discovery.

Jackson, Kareem: (Franklin) (Pending in the trial court on motion for leave to file a motion for new trial filed on January 24, 2020) (No meaningful activity since February 24, 2020) – *case stayed On January 24, 2020 Jackson filed in the trial court a motion for leave to file a motion for new trial. The State opposed the motion on February 7, 2020, and Jackson filed a reply on February 24, 2020. On May 19, 2023, the trial court stayed the case pending the evidentiary hearing in federal court on Jackson's successive habeas petition.

Osie, Gregory: (Butler) (Pending in the trial court on remand of the postconviction relief petition filed on April 8, 2011) (No meaningful activity since April 2018) On April 8, 2011, Osie filed a petition for postconviction relief in the trial court. On October 3, 2014, the trial court dismissed Osie's postconviction petition. On August 24, 2015, the 12th District Court of Appeals affirmed the denial of postconviction relief, in part, remanding to the trial court for an evidentiary hearing the issue of Osie's alleged neurological impairment. On August 31, 2016, the Ohio Supreme Court denied the parties' cross-appeals. On October 31, 2017, Osie filed in the trial court motions for discovery and funding for experts. On January 25, 2018, the trial court granted Osie's request for funding for experts, and on April 13, 2018, granted Osie's discovery request. An evidentiary hearing remains pending after being rescheduled multiple times. But, on December 27, 2021 the trial court stayed the proceedings pending investigation into Osie's alleged serious mental illness and granted funds for psychological experts. On June 6, 2022 and December 27, 2022, the trial court granted Osie additional funds for experts.

Tench, James: (Medina) (Petition for postconviction relief filed on November 30, 2017) (No meaningful activity since December 2019) On September 14, 2017, Tench filed a motion conduct discovery prior to filing his petition for postconviction relief, which the trial court denied on November 9, 2017. Tench filed his postconviction petition on November 30, 2017, which he amended on May 29, 2018. On December 8, 2017, Tench renewed his discovery request. On September 25, 2018, the State opposed the petition and the discovery request, and Tench filed a reply on December 2, 2019. On July 14, 2020, Tench filed a motion for a ruling on his outstanding motions and a notice of supplemental authority. Tench filed another notice of supplemental authority on March 17, 2021. On December 13, 2021, the trial court granted Tench's December 9, 2021 motion for a limited stay of the postconviction proceedings so newly assigned attorneys could become familiar with the case. On November 30, 2022, the trial court granted Tench's October 14, 2022 motion again seeking new counsel because the assigned attorneys had a conflict of interest. On September 13, 2023, the trial court approved the parties' scheduling order. On October 23, 2023, the trial court granted funding for an investigator, and granted additional funding for experts on December 8, 2023 and February 5, 2024.

Waddy, Warren: (Franklin) (Motion for relief from judgment) (No meaningful activity since January 13, 2021) On November 3, 2020, Waddy filed a motion relief from judgment, asserting that based upon new expert reports and the new standard announced in State v. Ford, the trial court should revisit its 2009 decision finding Waddy was not intellectually disabled. The State filed a response in opposition on December 10, 2020, and Waddy filed a reply on January 13, 2021.

Wilks, Jr., Willie Gene: (Mahoning) (Petition for postconviction relief filed on July 17, 2015) (No meaningful activity since December 2018) On July 17, 2015, Wilks filed a petition for postconviction relief which he amended on January 21, 2016, May 4, 2016, and October 25, 2016. Also on October 25, 2016, Wilks filed a motion for discovery, which the State opposed on January 26, 2017. The State filed a motion for summary judgment on December 11, 2017, to which Wilks responded on November 14, 2018. Also on November 14, 2018, Wilks renewed his motion for discovery and requested leave to amend his petition; the State opposed the motions on December 4, 2018. On February 24, 2020 and July 14, 2020, Wilks filed supplemental authority in the trial court. On December 20, 2021, Wilks' new attorneys filed a motion to stay the case for a year so they could become familiar with the record. On January 6, 2022, the State opposed the stay because the matter was ripe for a decision on the discovery motions and the State's motion for summary judgment.

Wogenstahl, Jeffrey: (Hamilton) (Successive petition for postconviction relief filed on April 26, 2017) (No meaningful activity since April 2018) On April 26, 2017, Wogenstahl filed in the trial court a successive petition for postconviction relief. The State moved to dismiss the successive petition on April 12, 2018. Wogenstahl filed amended postconviction petitions on May 21, 2019, July 27, 2021, and June 24, 2022. Also on June 24, 2022, Wogenstahl filed a motion for leave to file a motion for new trial. On November 13, 2023, Wogenstahl amended his motion for leave to file a motion for a new trial, and for the fourth time, he amended his successive postconviction petition. (Note: With permission from the Sixth Circuit, Wogenstahl filed a successive habeas petition in September 2018 which is stayed pending the exhaustion of his claims in state court.)

History of Ohio's Death Penalty

Historical Background

Capital punishment has been a part of Ohio's criminal justice system since the early 1800s. In 1972, the U.S. Supreme Court held that all existing state capital-punishment laws were unconstitutional. As a result, the Ohio General Assembly revised Ohio's death penalty statute in 1974. However, the U.S. Supreme Court found Ohio's death penalty statute unconstitutional in 1978. The General Assembly again adopted a new death penalty statute (Ohio Revised Code Section (ORC) 2929.04) which has remained in effect, with some modification, since October 19, 1981.

Procedural Changes to Death Penalty Appeals

ORC Sections 2929.05 and 2953.02, which became effective on September 21, 1995, eliminated one level of direct appeal by moving capital cases directly to the Ohio Supreme Court for all offenses committed on or after January 1, 1995. The new legislation also streamlined postconviction death penalty appeals by setting new timelines for filing postconviction petitions. ORC Section 2953.21 established the rules by which Death Row inmates may seek postconviction relief. Except under certain circumstances, Death Row inmates were required to file postconviction petitions in the trial court within 180 days after the date the trial record was received by the Ohio Supreme Court on direct appeal.

In 2004, the General Assembly revised the process for resentencing defendants whose death sentences had been vacated on appeal. This Bill was passed in response to the Ohio Supreme Court's decision in State v. Shawn Williams, 103 Ohio St.3d 112 (2004). In Williams, the Court held that Ohio's resentencing statute applies only prospectively, meaning that any individual who was sentenced to death prior to October 16, 1996, could not be resentenced to death if his or her death sentence was vacated on appeal. House Bill 184 ensured that the possible sentences upon resentencing are the same sentences that were in effect at the time the inmate was convicted and sentenced to death in the first instance.

In 2015, the legislature amended the postconviction relief statute to allow Death Row inmates 365 days from the date the trial record is received by the Ohio Supreme Court on direct appeal in which to file their petition.

In 2017, the legislature again made changes to the postconviction relief statute. Under the current law, inmates have been afforded greater access to discovery at the trial court stage of their postconviction relief actions. The 2017 amendments also eliminated page limitations on capital postconviction relief briefing.

Legislation Eliminates Electrocutation

Former ORC 2949.22 allowed Death Row inmates the option of choosing execution by electrocution or lethal injection. On November 21, 2001, ORC 2949.22 was amended to remove electrocution as a possible method of execution, leaving only lethal injection in Ohio.

National Ban on Execution of Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities

On June 20, 2002, the U.S. Supreme Court banned the execution of individuals with intellectual disabilities. The Court left to the states the task of determining which individuals are intellectually disabled, as well as the methods for enforcing the constitutional restriction against execution of offenders with intellectual disabilities. The Ohio Supreme Court established the standards for determining intellectual disability in State v. Lott, 97 Ohio St.3d 303 (2002). More information is provided in the “Intellectual Disability Claims” section later in this report.

DNA Testing Offered to Death Sentenced Inmates

On July 30, 2003, Governor Taft approved Senate Bill 11, which established a mechanism and procedure for the DNA testing of inmates under a sentence of death. Under the Bill (codified at ORC 109.573, 2953.21, 2953.23 and 2953.71-2953.83), a Death Row inmate could request DNA testing by filing an application in the trial court that issued the death sentence. If the inmate met the criteria outlined in the law, the trial court was required to order a DNA test. If the results of the testing established, by clear and convincing evidence, that the inmate was innocent of the capital specification that formed the basis of the inmate’s death sentence, then the inmate could file a postconviction petition in the trial court and request that the sentence be vacated. In October 2005, the law expired and was not renewed.

On July 11, 2006, Governor Taft approved Senate Bill 262, which enacted a permanent measure allowing inmates to apply for state-paid, postconviction DNA analysis of crime-scene evidence. More information is provided in the “DNA Testing” section of this report.

Ohio’s Execution Procedures Modified in Response to Unavailability of Execution Drugs

In December of 2009, Ohio became the first state to carry out a court-ordered execution by administering a lethal dose of a single drug, thiopental sodium. However, a practical obstacle soon emerged; anti-death penalty advocates pressured pharmaceutical companies to refuse to supply the drugs used to carry out death sentences. As a result, Ohio was required to modify its procedures as thiopental sodium and other drugs became unavailable. Ohio’s current protocol provides for the use of either a single dose of thiopental sodium or pentobarbital, or a three-drug combination consisting of midazolam, used to render the prisoner unconscious; one of three possible paralytic drugs, to prevent involuntary movement; and potassium chloride, to stop the heart.

Ohio’s execution procedures continue to be the subject of lawsuits brought in federal court by Death Row inmates.

Ohio's Death Penalty Statute

In Ohio, a criminal defendant may not be subjected to capital punishment if he or she is indicted solely for Aggravated Murder. Rather, the defendant must be indicted for Aggravated Murder and at least one statutorily defined Aggravating Circumstance.

The Capital Indictment – ORC 2903.01, 2929.04

For a criminal defendant to be subjected to a Capital Trial (see below), the defendant must have been at least eighteen years of age at the time of the commission of the offense and must be indicted on a capital charge. A capital indictment must allege that the defendant committed Aggravated Murder and that one or more statutorily defined aggravating circumstance was applicable to the offense. If the defendant was not at least eighteen years of age at the time of the commission of the offense, or if the defendant is not charged with Aggravated Murder and at least one statutorily defined Aggravating Circumstance, the defendant cannot be subjected to capital punishment.

Aggravated Murder – Defined in ORC 2903.01

Ohio defines Aggravated Murder as:

1. Purposely, and with prior calculation and design, causing the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy;
2. Purposely causing the death of another or the unlawful termination of another's pregnancy, while committing, attempting to commit, or fleeing after committing or attempting to commit, kidnapping, rape, arson, robbery, burglary, or escape;
3. Purposely causing the death of anyone under the age of thirteen;
4. Purposely causing the death of another while under detention; or
5. Purposely causing the death of a law enforcement officer when the offender knows or has reason to know he/she is a law enforcement officer, and the officer was engaged in his/her duties or it was the defendant's specific intention to kill a law enforcement officer.

Aggravating Circumstances – Specified in ORC 2929.04(A)(1)–(A)(10)

The following are Aggravating Circumstances in Ohio:

1. Assassination of President, Vice President, Governor, or Lieutenant Governor;
2. Committed for hire;
3. Committed for the purpose of escaping detection, apprehension, trial, or punishment of another crime;
4. While in detention or at large from breaking detention;
5. Prior to the current offense, the offender was convicted of a purposeful killing or attempt to kill, or the offense was part of a course of conduct involving the purposeful killing or attempt to kill two or more persons;

6. The victim was a law enforcement officer, whom the offender knew or had reasonable cause to know was a law enforcement officer. The law enforcement officer was either engaged in work duties or the offender's specific purpose was to kill a law enforcement officer;
7. The offense was committed, while the offender was committing, attempting to commit, or fleeing after committing or attempting to commit, kidnapping, rape, aggravated arson, aggravated robbery, or aggravated burglary and the offender was the principal offender in the aggravated murder, or if not the principal offender, the aggravated murder was committed by prior calculation and design;
8. Killing of a potential witness in a criminal case to prevent their testimony;
9. Killing of a person less than 13 years of age with prior calculation or design; or
10. The offense was committed while the offender was committing, attempting to commit, or fleeing immediately after committing, or attempting to commit terrorism.

Notification of Capital Indictment to the Ohio Supreme Court – ORC 2929.021

Whenever an indictment charges the defendant with capital murder, the clerk of the court in which the indictment is filed must provide notification to the Ohio Supreme Court. Notice must be filed within 15 days of the filing of the indictment and must contain the following information: the name of the defendant, the docket number, the name of the court in which the case will be heard, and the date the indictment was filed.

If the defendant pleads guilty or no contest to any of the charges in the indictment, or if any of the charges are dismissed, the clerk must provide the Ohio Supreme Court with the following information: the name of the defendant, the docket number, and the sentence imposed on the defendant.

The Capital Trial – ORC 2929.03

In capital cases, the trial is divided into two phases: the guilt phase and the sentencing or mitigation phase. The criminal defendant has a right to a trial by jury during both phases of the trial. However, if the defendant waives the right to a trial by jury, a three-judge panel decides guilt and sentence. Pursuant to ORC 2929.03, the three-judge panel is required to examine witnesses and to hear any other evidence properly presented by the prosecution in order to make a Criminal Rule 11 determination as to whether the evidence presented established the capital elements beyond a reasonable doubt.

If the defendant does not waive his right to a trial by jury, the court must ensure that each of the jurors sitting on the case is death-qualified. A juror cannot be death-qualified if the juror's views would "prevent or substantially impair the performance of his duties as a juror in accordance with his instructions and oath."

Guilt Phase

For the death penalty to be considered as a sentencing option, the state must first prove beyond a reasonable doubt (during the guilt phase) the elements of aggravated murder and one or more of the aggravating circumstances set forth in ORC 2929.04(A)(1)–(A)(10). As in all criminal trials, if the criminal defendant is tried by a jury, the verdict of guilt must be unanimous.

Similarly, if the defendant waives his right to a trial by jury, the appointed three-judge panel must have a unanimous verdict of guilt. If the fact-finder determines that the State failed to prove any element beyond a reasonable doubt, the defendant is entitled to an acquittal on that count or aggravating circumstance. If the fact-finder is unable to reach a unanimous verdict, the jury is declared “hung” and the case is considered a mistrial.

Penalty Phase/Mitigation Hearing/Sentencing – ORC 2929.03 and 2929.04

The defendant cannot be sentenced to death unless the jury or three-judge panel unanimously finds that the State proved one or more aggravating circumstances beyond a reasonable doubt and that the aggravating circumstance(s) outweighs any mitigating factors beyond a reasonable doubt.

Pursuant to ORC 2929.04(B)(1)–(B)(7), the following mitigating factors must be considered and weighed<sup>2</sup> against any aggravating circumstance:

1. The nature and circumstances of the offense,
2. The history, character, and background of the offender and any of the following factors that were specifically asserted by the defendant during the mitigation phase:
  - The victim of the offense induced or facilitated it;
  - It is unlikely that the offense would have been committed but for the offender’s duress, coercion, or strong provocation;
  - The offender at the time of committing the offense, because of mental disease or defect, lacked substantial capacity to appreciate the criminality of his conduct;
  - Youth of the offender;
  - Lack of a significant criminal history;
  - Offender was not the principal offender in the murder; and/or
  - Any other relevant factors.

<sup>2</sup> Pursuant to Ohio case law, the individual jurors can assign as much or as little weight to the factors raised by the defendant in mitigation as the juror determines is proper.

If the jury (or three-judge panel) unanimously finds that any aggravating circumstance outweighs the mitigating factors, then the jury (or three-judge panel) must recommend a sentence of death. ORC 2929.03(D)(2). If the aggravating circumstance does not outweigh the mitigating factors beyond a reasonable doubt, then death is not an option and only one of the following life options may be imposed pursuant to ORC 2929.03(D)(2)(a):<sup>3</sup>

1. Life imprisonment without parole,
2. Life imprisonment with parole eligibility after 30 years, or
3. Life imprisonment with parole eligibility after 25 years.

If the jury recommends a sentence of death, the trial court reviews the evidence, pursuant to ORC 2929.03(D)(3). Unless the trial court also finds the aggravating circumstance outweighs the mitigating factors beyond a reasonable doubt, the trial court must impose one of the life sentence options, notwithstanding the jury's sentence recommendation of death.

Death Penalty Review Process

In Ohio, there are four distinct types of judicial review and one type of executive review. These are direct appeal in state court, a petition for postconviction relief in state court, a “Murnahan” appeal in state court, a petition for habeas corpus relief in federal court, and a clemency review by the Governor of the State of Ohio.

Direct Appeal in State Court

The first opportunity available for an Ohio Death Row inmate to challenge his or her conviction and sentence is to initiate a “direct appeal” in one of the state appellate courts. Normally, a “direct appeal” alleges the conviction and/or sentence should be overturned based on alleged errors that appear in the trial record.

- For capital murders committed prior to January 1, 1995, an inmate must appeal first to a state court of appeals before proceeding to the Ohio Supreme Court.
- Pursuant to an amendment to the Ohio Constitution in November 1994 (Senate Bill 4, codified at ORC 2929.05 and ORC 2953.02), an inmate who commits a capital murder on or after January 1, 1995, must appeal directly from the trial court to the Ohio Supreme Court, skipping the state court of appeals.

After the Ohio Supreme Court's direct appeal decision, the inmate may ask the U.S. Supreme Court for review.

Postconviction Petition in State Court

Pursuant to ORC 2953.21, a Death Row inmate may also petition the trial court to overturn the conviction and death sentence based on alleged legal errors that occurred outside the trial record. Under amendments to ORC 2953.21 passed in 2015, a Death Row inmate must file for postconviction review within 365 days from the date the trial record is received by the Ohio Supreme Court as part of the direct appeal. As a result of this change in the law, capital cases often proceed on a “dual track” in state appellate review. In other words, at the same time the trial court is reviewing the postconviction petition to determine whether there are any off-the-record errors, the Ohio Supreme Court is reviewing the direct appeal for any on-the-record errors.

<sup>3</sup> Prior to the amendment to ORC 2929.03(D)(2), and for all capital offenses committed prior to July 1, 1996, life options were 20 and 30 years to life.

Typically, if the trial court does not find that any off-the-record errors occurred, the inmate will appeal the trial court’s decision to a state court of appeals and then to the Ohio Supreme Court. These appeals are generally referred to as the “postconviction appeal.” Just as in a direct appeal, a Death Row inmate can ask the U.S. Supreme Court to review the Ohio Supreme Court’s postconviction appeal decision.

“Murnahan” Appeal in State Court

All criminal defendants are constitutionally entitled to competent counsel, and accordingly, many capital inmates may seek relief alleging ineffective assistance of their trial attorneys or the attorney who handled the appeal of their sentence. When the claim of legal incompetence is made against the attorney who defended the inmate at trial, the appeal may be raised as part of the direct appeal or postconviction action. However, Death Row inmates may also seek relief by claiming that the attorneys who represented them on direct appeal failed to represent them effectively. This type of proceeding is commonly referred to as a “Motion to Reopen Direct Appeal” or a “Murnahan” appeal, named after State v. Murnahan, 63 Ohio St.3d 60 (1992), the case that led to the creation of Ohio Appellate Rule 26(B) and Ohio Supreme Court Practice Rule 11.06. In all cases arising after the streamlining of Ohio’s appellate procedure in 1994, this “Murnahan” appeal is taken to the Ohio Supreme Court. A Death Row inmate can also ask the U.S. Supreme Court to review the Ohio Supreme Court’s “Murnahan” appeal decision.

Habeas Corpus in Federal Court: District Court Level

Within one year after the completion of all state court appeals, a Death Row inmate may file a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in the U.S. District Court. A habeas action requests the federal courts to release the prisoner because of a significant constitutional violation. The Antiterrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996 (AEDPA) substantially amended the habeas corpus statute codified at 28 U.S.C. 2241, et seq. Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. 2261–2266 (Chapter 154), the inmate has one year after completing state court direct review to commence a habeas corpus action in the district court.

To prevail in a federal habeas corpus action, the inmate must demonstrate that the conviction or death sentence was obtained as a result of a violation of the inmate’s federal constitutional rights. In other words, the district court in a federal habeas corpus action cannot review alleged errors of state law, only alleged violations of federal constitutional rights.

Even though a federal habeas corpus action is brought against the State, the warden of the prison where the inmate is held is the named party on behalf of the State. The Ohio Attorney General represents the Warden and defends the action.

Habeas Corpus in Federal Court: Court of Appeals Level

If the district court denies the Death Row inmate’s request for a writ of habeas corpus, the inmate can appeal the decision to the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit, which hears all federal appeals from the district courts in Ohio, Michigan, Kentucky, and Tennessee. Likewise, if the district court grants the Death Row inmate's petition for a writ of habeas corpus, the Attorney General can appeal the decision to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. A Death Row inmate is not automatically entitled to appeal the denial of his habeas petition; in order to do so, the inmate must obtain a certificate of appealability either from the district court or the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals. Only claims which receive a certificate of appealability may be raised by an inmate on appeal.

Habeas Corpus in Federal Court: U.S. Supreme Court Level

A final decision by the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals is appealable through a petition for a writ of certiorari to the U.S. Supreme Court. This review of the federal appeals process is the Death Row inmate's fourth opportunity for appeal to the nation's highest court.

Second Round of Federal Review

Upon completion of the habeas corpus appeal, a Death Row inmate may attempt to seek a second round of federal review. However, 28 U.S.C. 2244 (Chapter 153), which governs second habeas corpus petitions, strictly governs what constitutes appropriate legal grounds for a second round of federal review. As a result of this federal provision, Death Row inmates must receive permission from the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals prior to filing a second habeas corpus petition in the district court.

If the Death Row inmate receives permission to file a second habeas petition in the district court and the district court denies the petition, the inmate can appeal to the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals and ultimately to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Executive Clemency Review

The Governor of Ohio has the power, pursuant to Article III, Section 11, of the Ohio Constitution, to grant reprieves, commutations, and pardons for all criminals (except in cases of treason and impeachment) for any reason that he or she deems "proper," provided that he or she follows the procedures set forth in the Ohio Revised Code. Typically, Death Row inmates will submit a request for clemency to the Governor once they have exhausted their state and federal appeals.

After a Death Row inmate completes both state and federal review, the State is poised to request an execution date from the Ohio Supreme Court. Once the Ohio Supreme Court sets an execution date, clemency proceedings are commenced. The Ohio Parole Board assists the Governor in his clemency role.

The clemency process begins with a written request by the Death Row inmate. The State then submits a written response summarizing the offense for which the inmate received the death penalty. The Parole Board interviews the inmate and then holds a clemency hearing. The Parole Board considers all materials provided in support of and against clemency, including any statements provided by the family of the inmate or victims, and submits a written report and recommendation to the Governor. The Governor may then use this report to assist him or her in making the decision of whether to grant the Death Row inmate clemency.

Intellectual Disability Claims

National Ban on Execution of Individuals with Intellectual Disabilities

On June 20, 2002, the U.S. Supreme Court banned the execution of individuals with intellectual disabilities in Atkins v. Virginia, 536 U.S. 304 (2002). Specifically, the Court held that, “in light of evolving standards of decency,” it is a violation of the Eighth Amendment protection against cruel and unusual punishment to execute criminals with intellectual disabilities. The Court reasoned that the deficiencies of criminals with intellectual disabilities do not warrant an exemption from criminal sanctions, but rather diminish personal culpability. The Court left to the states the task of determining which offenders indeed are intellectually disabled, as well as the methods for enforcing the constitutional restriction against the execution of criminals with intellectual disabilities.

Ohio’s Procedures for Assessing Intellectual Disability Claims

Ohio’s procedure for determining intellectual disabilities was established in State v. Lott, 97 Ohio St.3d 303 (2002). Lott filed a motion in the Ohio Supreme Court seeking to vacate his death sentence pursuant to the U.S. Supreme Court’s decision in Atkins. In ruling on Lott’s motion, the Ohio Supreme Court determined that the appropriate vehicle for raising claims of intellectual disability was through postconviction relief. Thus, capitally sentenced defendants in Ohio who contended they were intellectually disabled filed petitions with the trial court to raise this issue. A number of these claims are still being litigated.

The Ohio Supreme Court further held that a trial court considering an Atkins claim must conduct its own de novo review of the evidence in determining whether the defendant is intellectually disabled. With respect to determining which individuals are intellectually disabled, the Court stated that definitions provided by the American Association of Mental Retardation (AAMR)<sup>4</sup> and the American Psychiatric Association (APA) established the standard for evaluating intellectual disabilities. The AAMR and APA required: (1) significantly sub-average intellectual functioning; (2) significant limitations in two or more adaptive skills, such as communication, self-care and self-direction; and (3) onset before the age of 18.

With respect to IQ testing, the Ohio Supreme Court noted that IQ testing is one factor to consider and held that there is a rebuttable presumption that the defendant is not intellectually disabled if their IQ is above 70.

In assessing the standards for intellectual disability, the Ohio Supreme Court instructed trial courts to rely on mental health evaluations conducted on the defendant and to consider expert testimony. The Court further ordered that the decision as to whether the defendant is intellectually disabled must be made by the trial court rather than the jury and that inmates alleging intellectual disability bear the burden of establishing it by a preponderance of the evidence.

In 2019, the Ohio Supreme Court revisited the assessment standards for intellectual disability in State v. Ford, 2019-Ohio-4539. Under Ford, there is no longer a rebuttable presumption that the defendant is not intellectually disabled if their IQ is above 70. Rather, a court determining whether a defendant is intellectually disabled must consider three core elements: “(1) intellectual-functioning deficits (indicated by an IQ score approximately two standard deviations below the mean—i.e., a score of roughly 70 or lower when adjusted for the standard error of measurement), (2) significant adaptive deficits in any of the three adaptive-skill sets (conceptual, social, and practical), and (3) the onset of these deficits while the defendant was a minor.” Id. at ¶100.

Ban on Executing the Seriously Mentally Ill

House Bill 136

On January 9, 2021, Governor DeWine approved House Bill 136, barring the execution of persons with certain serious mental illnesses. Codified as R.C. 2929.025 which became effective on April 12, 2021, Ohio may not execute a person if: a) the person has been diagnosed with schizophrenia, schizoaffective disorder, bipolar disorder, or delusional disorder (“diagnosis prong”), and b) at the time of the offense, the mental illness “significantly impaired the person’s capacity to exercise rational judgment in relation to the person’s conduct” with respect to either conforming their conduct to the requirements of the law or appreciating the nature, consequences, or wrongfulness of the person’s conduct (“impairment prong”). R.C. 2929.025(A)(1).

A person with a serious mental illness, as defined above, who was already sentenced to death, may be eligible for postconviction relief under R.C. 2953.21(A)(1)(a)(iv) and resentenced to life without the possibility of parole under R.C. 2929.06(A), provided they filed within 365 days of April 12, 2021. The act of filing such a postconviction relief petition constituted a waiver of any right to be sentenced under the law that existed at the time of the commission of the offense, and constituted consent to be sentenced to life without the possibility of parole.

The Death Row inmate has the burden of proving the diagnosis and impairment prongs by the preponderance of the evidence. R.C. 2929.025(D). Unlike in a typical postconviction relief petition, the Death Row inmate does not need to show a constitutional error or prejudice.

The trial court held hearings on May 27, 2022 and September 18, 2022, wherein Ahmed stated counsel did not have his consent to file the serious mental illness petition. Based on Ahmed’s statements, the trial court dismissed the petition on September 22, 2022. Both Ahmed acting pro se, and counsel filed notices of appeal. As to the pro se appeal, the court of appeals appointed different counsel to represent Ahmed on November 09, 2022. In both appeals, as well as in the trial court, Ahmed continues to file pro se pleadings.

DNA Testing

DNA Overview

Deoxyribonucleic Acid (DNA) molecules contain genetic information that can be extracted from various cells in the human body, such as blood (white blood cells), skin, tissue, sperm, scrapings, bone, hair, or cells from vaginal and oral swabs. DNA evidence can be a valuable tool in criminal cases because: 1) all cells in the human body (except red blood cells) contain DNA; 2) a person's DNA structure is identical throughout the person's body; 3) a person's DNA structure is constant from conception through death; and 4) no two people (except identical twins) have the same DNA structure.

DNA evidence first appeared in a U.S. courtroom in 1986. Today, every U.S. jurisdiction admits some type of DNA evidence, and DNA testing is widely accepted as scientifically reliable. As DNA evidence was unavailable at the time many of Ohio's Death Row inmates were tried and convicted, the state and federal courts, the Ohio legislature, and the Ohio Attorney General's Office have worked together to provide DNA testing to eligible Death Row inmates.

Legislative Overview

Capital Justice Initiative

In November 2000, the Ohio Attorney General's Office unveiled the Capital Justice Initiative, a voluntary program that established a protocol under which qualifying Death Row inmates may obtain a DNA test from the State.

Pursuant to the Initiative, a Death Row inmate is eligible for DNA testing if the inmate meets the following five requirements:

- A conclusive DNA test has not been previously conducted;
- DNA testing was not available at the time of the inmate's trial;
- Biological material was in fact collected from the scene or victim at the time of the murder and the biological material is of sufficient quantity and quality for testing;
- The results of the test must be outcome determinative. That is, a test result would exonerate the inmate; and
- The whereabouts of the sample of biological material can be verified from the time that it was first collected until the time when it is to be used in the DNA test.

Senate Bill 11

On July 30, 2003, Governor Taft approved Senate Bill 11, which codified the Capital Justice Initiative. Pursuant to the Bill, a Death Row inmate could request DNA testing by filing an application for DNA testing in the trial court that issued the death sentence. The trial court would then determine whether to accept the application for DNA testing using the five criteria outlined in the Capital Justice Initiative.

If the results of the testing established actual innocence by clear and convincing evidence, the Death Row inmate could file a postconviction petition in the trial court that imposed the death sentence and request that the sentence be vacated. Inmates under sentence of death at the time the bill became effective on October 29, 2003 had one year to file an application for DNA testing in the trial court.

Senate Bill 262

Senate Bill 11 expired in October 2005 (when enacted in October 2003, it had a one-year sunset provision, but lawmakers renewed it for an additional year in 2004). On July 11, 2006, Ohio permanently reinstated the law by allowing certain inmates to apply for state-funded DNA analysis of evidence that could affirm their guilt or prove their innocence. Inmates must demonstrate:

- No prior definitive DNA test was conducted pursuant to the conviction;
- The inmate pleaded not guilty at trial or is granted approval from the prosecutor in cases where pleas of guilty or no contest were entered at the time of conviction;
- Sufficient biological material is available;
- The outcome of the DNA analysis is capable of determining whether the inmate is guilty or not guilty; and
- From the date of application, at least one year must be remaining on the inmate's sentence.

Requests for DNA Testing Made to State Courts

The following Death Row inmates have made postconviction requests for DNA testing to state courts:

Adams, Stanley: (Trumbull) Adams was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1999 aggravated murders of 43-year-old Esther Cook and her 12-year-old daughter, Ashley Cook in their Warren home. On October 28, 2004, Adams filed an application for DNA testing on “any and all evidence that was and was not tested.” DNA testing, performed prior to trial, revealed that Adams was the source of semen from oral, vaginal, and anal swabs taken from Ashley. Adams was also the source of semen found on the bed sheet where Ashley's body was found. On December 29, 2004, the trial court denied Adams' application for DNA testing, noting that Adams offered no explanation as to how further DNA testing would change the previous DNA results.

Allen, David Wayne: (Cuyahoga) Allen was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1991 aggravated murder of 84-year-old Chloe English in her Belford home. On September 23, 2004, Allen filed an application for DNA testing in the trial court on two items. First, he requested DNA testing on a bloodstain found on the sleeve of the jacket he was wearing when he was arrested. Scientists analyzed this stain prior to trial and determined that it was type “O” human blood. Both Allen and Ms. English shared blood type O; however, subsequent DNA testing excluded both as the source. Second, Allen requested DNA testing on a pair of bloodstained gloves located near Ms. English's body. No DNA was obtained from the gloves. On August 29, 2010, Allen filed a motion for leave to file a motion for a new trial based on the results. On April 27, 2011, the trial court granted Allen's motion for additional DNA testing, which was completed on July 29, 2011. On November 28, 2011, Allen filed a supplemental motion for new trial. On March 16, 2012, the State filed notice of additional DNA testing conducted by the State on cigarette butts which showed Allen was at the crime scene.

Bays, Richard: (Greene) Bays was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1993 aggravated murder of 76-year-old wheelchair-bound Charles Weaver in Weaver's Xenia home. On September 22, 2016, Bays filed a motion in the trial court requesting DNA testing on the evidence in his case. On March 21, 2018, the trial court ordered BCI conduct DNA testing on hairs, any biological evidence on Mr. Weaver's clothing, Mr. Weaver's fingernail clippings, and various other physical evidence. Those results were reported in March 2019. On February 2, 2022, the State filed a motion for a status conference, which was held on March 24, 2022. Meanwhile, on March 21, 2022, Bays filed a motion for additional DNA testing, which the State opposed on March 28, 2022, and Bays replied on March 30, 2022. Ultimately a hair from Mr. Weaver's hand and a paper towel were sent for additional testing. Results of the testing were received in October of 2023 finding that the hair from Mr. Weaver's hand was consistent with a mixture of two people, including at least one male; and the hair found on the paper towel was consistent with Bays.

Bonnell, Melvin: (Cuyahoga) Bonnell was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1986 aggravated murder of 23-year-old Robert Bunner in Cleveland. On October 29, 2004, Bonnell filed an application in the trial court requesting DNA testing on several items, including a hair on a green pillow that was recovered from the crime scene and blood recovered from three locations: the crime scene, Bonnell's hands, and Bonnell's vehicle. The trial court denied Bonnell's request for DNA testing. On February 6, 2008, Bonnell filed another application for DNA testing in the trial court, requesting testing on a jacket Bonnell was wearing when arrested. On July 28, 2008, Bonnell and the State filed in the trial court a joint motion to conduct DNA testing on a jacket which was granted on July 30, 2008. On July 6, 2009, the State filed a notice of DNA results. The results indicated that Mr. Bunner was the source of the blood found on Bonnell's jacket. In 2008, Bonnell also sought DNA testing on various other items, but on August 14, 2017, the trial court denied that request. On October 10, 2018, the Ohio Supreme Court affirmed the denial, finding the requested testing would not be outcome-determinative. On May 28, 2019, the U.S. Supreme Court denied Bonnell's petition for a writ of certiorari. Meanwhile, on January 11, 2018, Bonnell filed a motion for leave to file a motion for new trial based on issues surrounding his DNA request. The trial court denied his motion on January 25, 2019. The court of appeals affirmed the denial on December 26, 2019. The Ohio Supreme Court declined to hear the appeal on June 17, 2020. Bonnell filed a petition for a writ of certiorari with the U.S. Supreme Court on January 14, 2021, and the U.S. Supreme Court denied certiorari on March 29, 2021. On August 17, 2021, Bonnell filed in the district court a successive habeas petition based upon his DNA request. On April 22, 2022, the Warden filed a motion to transfer the successive petition to the Sixth Circuit for authorization to proceed; Bonnell opposed the motion on May 20, 2022. Also on May 20, 2022, Bonnell filed in the district court a motion for leave to conduct discovery.

Durr, Darryl: (Cuyahoga) Durr was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1988 aggravated murder of 16-year-old Angel O’Nan Vincent in Elyria. On August 6, 2009, Durr filed an application for DNA testing in the trial court. On September 1, 2009, Durr and the State filed an agreed order for DNA testing. Testing of oral, rectal, and vaginal slides from the victim failed to yield a sufficient quantity of DNA to develop a profile for comparison purposes. On October 6, 2009, the trial court denied Durr’s request for further DNA testing. (Note: On April 20, 2010, Durr was executed.)

Gillard, John Grant: (Stark) Gillard was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1985 aggravated murders of 22-year-old Denise Maxwell and 26-year-old Leroy Ensign in Northwest Canton. On September 25, 2007 the trial court granted Gillard’s application for DNA testing. On November 13, 2009, the trial court ordered the State to coordinate the transfer of items to be tested to BCI’s crime laboratory. On December 9, 2010, DNA testing was completed. In 2016, Gillard requested additional DNA testing on various items of clothing. The DNA testing was stayed pending the acquisition of new DNA standards from two individuals yet to be located. (Note: On November 22, 2022, Gillard died of natural causes.)

Jones, Elwood: (Hamilton) Jones was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1994 aggravated murder of 67-year-old Rhoda Nathan in Blue Ash. On November 18, 2010, Jones filed an application for DNA testing in the trial court. On August 5, 2011, the trial court denied the State’s motion to dismiss the application. On February 17, 2012, the trial court granted Jones’ request to test Ms. Nathan’s teeth, her fingernail clippings and scrapings, her pendant, and a piece of blood-stained curtain. The results indicated either no DNA profile could be found or that there was an insufficient profile to conduct a comparison. On April 8, 2014, the trial court granted Jones’ request to conduct additional DNA testing on bedding, stains, and hairs located at the crime scene. The results of this later testing indicated either no DNA found or inconclusive results due to insufficient amounts of DNA. On December 20, 2022, the trial court granted Jones a new trial. On January 3, 2023, the State filed with the court of appeals a motion for leave to file an appeal. On January 13, 2023, Jones posted bond and was released pending retrial. The State’s appeals remain pending. (see case page for details)

McNeill, Freddie: (Lorain) McNeill was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1994 aggravated murder of 30-year-old Blake Fulton in Lorain. On July 7, 2022, McNeill filed a motion for postconviction DNA testing, but voluntarily withdrew the motion on August 25, 2022.

Mason, Maurice: (Marion) Mason was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1993 aggravated murder of 19-year-old Robin Dennis near Pole Land Road. On October 16, 2014, Mason filed an application in the trial court for DNA testing on all biological materials found at the crime scene, including blood stains, tennis shoes, and any touch-DNA from a wooden board containing nails. The State opposed Mason’s application on December 1, 2014. On January 9, 2015, the trial court ordered the parties to consult regarding what items would be tested. On January 20, 2016, the trial court ordered DNA testing be conducted on various items of clothing and other recovered physical evidence. On May 3, 2019, the trial court denied any further funding for DNA testing in light of the resolution reached in the case. (Note: On April 29, 2019, the trial court resentenced Mason to life with parole eligibility after 23 years, plus an additional 3 to 5-year sentence.)

Moreland, Samuel: (Montgomery) Moreland was convicted and sentenced for the 1985 aggravated murders of his girlfriend, 46-year-old Glenna Green, her daughter, 23-year-old Lana Green, and her grandchildren, 7-year-old Daytrin Talbott, 6-year-old Datwan Talbott, and 6-year-old Violana Green, in their Dayton home. Moreland was also convicted of attempted murder for shooting and pistol-whipping Glenna's other three grandchildren, who were also in the house. On July 13, 2012, Moreland filed an application for DNA testing in the trial court. On June 27, 2013, the State filed a notice of DNA results. The results indicated that Lana could not be excluded as one of the contributors of a mixture of DNA on a cutting from the tested $20.00 bill. The results also excluded "alternate suspect" Eugene Hagans and the five victims as contributors of genetic material located on a second cutting from the $20.00 bill. The results also indicated that the blood found on Hagan's jacket was consistent with his own blood. On July 10, 2014, the trial court granted Moreland's request for additional DNA testing to be conducted on spent, misfired, and live .22 caliber shell casings as well as blood-stained sweatpants. On December 4, 2017, the trial court ordered the items be transferred to the lab in order that the testing be conducted. On February 25, 2019, the items were ordered transferred from the DNA Diagnostics Center to BCI for the ordered DNA testing to be completed. On November 16, 2020, the State filed a notice of DNA results. The results indicated blood was consistent with Glenna on a spent shell casing and the interior of a tin, and there were either mixtures of DNA which were insufficient for comparison, or no DNA was found on other casings and the pair of sweatpants.

Noling, Tyrone: (Portage) Noling was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1990 aggravated murders of Bearnhardt and Cora Hartig, an 81-year-old couple, in their home in Atwater Township. On September 25, 2008, Noling filed an application for DNA testing in the trial court. On March 11, 2009, the trial court denied Noling's application. On March 28, 2011, the trial court again denied DNA testing. On May 2, 2013, the Ohio Supreme Court remanded the case back to the trial court to consider if prior DNA testing precluded a second application for DNA testing. On October 8, 2013, Noling amended his application for DNA testing. On December 19, 2013, the State agreed to conduct DNA testing at BCI on a cigarette butt, and the results were filed with the trial court on March 11, 2014. On December 30, 2013, Noling moved to have a private lab conduct DNA testing on shell casings and ring boxes, but the trial court ordered BCI to determine the quality and quantity of biological material on the items. On June 27, 2014, the trial court dismissed Noling's amended application for DNA testing because the evidence was unsuitable for testing due to contamination. On August 11, 2014, Noling filed an appeal in the Ohio Supreme Court on the same denial of DNA testing. On December 21, 2016, the Ohio Supreme Court converted Noling's appeal into an appeal of right, and ordered briefing be conducted. On March 6, 2018, the Ohio Supreme Court affirmed the trial court's decision, except Court determined Noling was entitled to the DNA profile that BCI had created for comparison. On March 16, 2018, the State provided Noling the created DNA profile.

Pickens, Mark: (Hamilton) Pickens was convicted and sentenced for the 2009 aggravated murders of 19-year-old Noelle Washington, 9-month-old Anthony Jones III, and 3-year-old Sha'Railyn Wright. On November 14, 2022, Pickens filed in the trial court a motion for leave to file a motion for new trial based on newly discovered evidence and a successive petition for postconviction relief. On December 12, 2022, Pickens requested permission to test for DNA, at his expense, the physical evidence. On January 26, 2023, noting no objection from the State, the trial court granted Pickens' motion for access to the physical exhibits for independent testing. The lab results indicated male DNA, but it was of insufficient quality for a comparison.

Federal Court Ordered DNA Testing

To date, the federal district courts have ordered DNA testing for the following inmates:

Benner, Glenn: (Summit) Benner was convicted and sentenced for the 1986 aggravated murders of 21-year-old Trina Bowser and 26-year-old Cynthia Sedgwick near the Blossom Music Center. Benner was identified as the contributor of the semen found in both the vaginal and anal samples taken from Ms. Bowser. There was no genetic material to test for DNA with respect to the kidnapping, rape, and aggravated murder of Ms. Sedgwick. (Note: On February 7, 2006, Benner was executed.)

Broom, Romell: (Cuyahoga) Broom was convicted and sentenced for the 1985 aggravated murder of 14-year-old Tryna Middleton in Cleveland. At trial, Broom claimed that Tryna was a stranger to him and that he had no contact with her. However, semen samples removed from Tryna's oral cavities were found to match Broom through blood typing. The federal district court ordered DNA testing as part of discovery. The results confirmed Broom as the contributor of the semen sample. (Note: on December 28, 2020, Broom died of natural causes.)

Coleman, Timothy: (Clark) Coleman was convicted and sentenced for the 1996 aggravated murder of 33-year-old Melinda Stevens in Springfield. During Coleman's successive postconviction proceedings, Ms. Stevens' rape kit was tested, but the sample was insufficient to yield conclusive results. Upon Coleman's request, the federal district court ordered DNA testing on a beer bottle found in the alley where Ms. Stevens' body was located, as well as testing of Ms. Stevens' rape kit, underwear, and shorts. Coleman's DNA request alleged that a specific individual committed the murder. The results excluded both Coleman and the individual Coleman alleged committed the murder as contributors of the genetic material recovered from Ms. Stevens, and there was insufficient genetic material on the beer bottle to make any determination.

Cowans, Jesse: (Clermont) Cowans was convicted and sentenced for the 1996 aggravated murder of 69-year-old Clara Swart, who was found murdered in her kitchen in Amelia. Ms. Swart's body was found hanging from the refrigerator door by an electrical cord. The bloodstains collected from the kitchen floor and Ms. Swart's nightclothes were not tested prior to trial to determine if they originated from Ms. Swart. The federal district court ordered DNA testing. The results revealed that Ms. Swart was the contributor of the bloodstains from the kitchen floor and nightclothes. (Note: On September 6, 2011, Jesse Cowans died of natural causes.)

Hartman, Brett: (Summit) Hartman was convicted and sentenced for the 1997 aggravated murder of 46-year-old Winda Snipes in Akron. At trial, Hartman claimed he had vaginal intercourse with Ms. Snipes, but he denied that he had anally raped or killed her. Pre-trial testing had identified Hartman as the source of the semen found in Ms. Snipes' vaginal cavity. In 2003, Hartman requested, and the district court permitted, DNA testing of the semen located in Ms. Snipes' anal cavity. The 2003 testing likewise identified Hartman as the source. On July 11, 2011, Hartman filed suit under 42 USC 1983 for additional DNA testing. On November 2, 2011, the district court dismissed Hartman's complaint. On October 1, 2012, the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals affirmed the district court's dismissal. (Note: On November 13, 2012, Hartman was executed.)

Henderson, Jerome: (Hamilton) Henderson was convicted and sentenced to death for the aggravated murder of 26-year-old Mary Acoff in Cincinnati. Blood and semen were found on Henderson's coat, and semen was found in Ms. Acoff's vagina. At Henderson's request, the district court ordered DNA testing on the vaginal swabs taken from Ms. Acoff. At the State's request, the district court ordered DNA testing on the blood and semen found on Henderson's coat. In 2003, the results revealed that: 1) Ms. Acoff's boyfriend was the source of the semen found in her vagina; 2) Henderson was the source of the semen found on his coat; and 3) Ms. Acoff was the source of the blood found on Henderson's coat.

McGuire, Dennis: (Preble) McGuire was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1989 aggravated murder of 22-year-old Joy Stewart near Bantas Creek. Semen was found in Ms. Stewart's rectum, but there was insufficient quantity for DNA testing. Scientific advances allowed for DNA testing with smaller quantities of sample material. At McGuire's request, the federal district court ordered DNA testing to be conducted on the rectal swabs. The results indicated that McGuire was the source of the semen found in Ms. Stewart's rectum. (Note: On January 16, 2014, McGuire was executed.)

Myers, David: (Greene) Myers was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1988 aggravated murder of 18-year-old Amanda Maher in Xenia. A pubic hair found on Ms. Maher, which was DNA tested using the technology available at the time of trial, was consistent with Myers. On March 29, 2019, Myers requested the district court grant him permission to conduct new DNA testing on 22 items of evidence. On February 11, 2020, the district court granted Myers' request to conduct DNA testing of the requested items and ordered the parties to determine the location and status of the evidence, as well as proposed laboratories to conduct the testing. On July 21, 2020, the district court issued a revised testing order. Consistent with that order, the parties subsequently sent designated items of evidence to the testing laboratory identified by Myers. Greene County authorities continue to look for additional items of evidence Myers has requested to be tested. On June 28, 2022, Myers filed a status report updating the federal court on the progress of the DNA testing. With the DNA testing complete, on June 21, 2022, Myers filed a successive postconviction petition and a motion for leave to file a motion for new trial in the trial court, both which remain pending.

Wogenstahl, Jeffrey: (Hamilton) Wogenstahl was convicted and sentenced to death for the aggravated murder of 10-year-old Amber Garrett in Harrison. At trial, the State presented DNA test results that a speck of blood found in Wogenstahl's car "could have originated" from Amber. At Wogenstahl's request, the federal district court ordered DNA testing be conducted on the blood. In 2001, the results indicated that Amber's blood was in Wogenstahl's car.

State Conducted DNA Testing

In addition to the cases already listed, the State of Ohio has conducted DNA testing in the following cases, either at the request of the inmate or on its own accord.

Apanovitch, Anthony: (Cuyahoga) Apanovitch was convicted and sentenced for the 1984 aggravated murder of 33-year-old Mary Ann Flynn in her Cleveland home. The State advocated for DNA testing of available evidence as the best means by which to determine the truth of Apanovitch's claims of innocence. Despite Apanovitch's persistent opposition to DNA testing, and while his appeal was pending before the Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals, the Cuyahoga County Prosecutor's Office proceeded with DNA testing on the rape kit retained by the Cuyahoga County Coroner. Test results obtained in 2006 identified Apanovitch as the contributor of the sperm found inside Ms. Flynn’s mouth. On March 21, 2012, Apanovitch filed a successive petition for postconviction relief challenging the DNA results. Following an evidentiary hearing, on February 12, 2015, the trial court ordered a new trial, and the 8th District Court of Appeals affirmed the decision on May 5, 2016. The State appealed to the Ohio Supreme Court on May 5, 2016, and filed a brief on June 20, 2016, to which Apanovitch responded on July 20, 2016. Meanwhile, on May 16, 2016, Apanovitch was granted bond and released from custody pending re-trial. On November 28, 2018, the Ohio Supreme Court vacated the trial court’s grant of a new trial and remanded the case back to the trial court for further proceedings. Apanovitch was re-incarcerated. On December 3, 2018, the trial court dismissed Apanovitch’s successive postconviction petition. Following briefing, on July 23, 2019, the trial court denied Apanovitch’s motion for a new trial, and he appealed on August 21, 2019. On August 27, 2020, the 8th District affirmed the trial court’s denial of relief. On September 8, 2020, Apanovitch filed a motion for reconsideration or for en banc review. On September 28, 2020, the court of appeals denied Apanovitch’s motion for reconsideration, and denied the motion for en banc review on April 16, 2021. On November 9, 2021, the Ohio Supreme Court declined to hear Apanovitch’s appeal.

Campbell, Jerome: (Hamilton) Campbell was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1989 aggravated murder of 78-year-old Henry Turner in his Cincinnati apartment. After exhausting all available state and federal appeals in April 2002, Campbell requested DNA testing on blood found on a pair of Campbell’s “Pony” gym shoes. The shoes, taken by police at the time of Campbell’s arrest (several days after the murder), had been tested prior to trial. The results of that test were inconclusive and were admitted at Campbell’s 1989 trial. Campbell requested testing on the shoes, at the conclusion of his appeals, for use in clemency proceedings.

Since Campbell was the first request under the new initiative, the Ohio Attorney General agreed to complete DNA testing on the shoes, despite finding that Campbell’s request did not meet the five criteria of the Initiative. Specifically, the request did not meet the requirement that testing exonerate Campbell for two reasons. First, the result would not undermine the jury’s verdicts because no evidence or argument was presented by the State at trial to establish that the blood on Campbell’s shoes belonged to the Mr. Turner. Second, the origin of the blood on the shoes—that it was Campbell’s—was in fact presented by the defense and was not contested by the State. Nonetheless, DNA testing was conducted to timely resolve potential last-minute issues, which revealed that Campbell was the source of blood on his shoes. (Note: On June 24, 2003, Governor Taft commuted Campbell’s sentence to life without parole.)

Davis, Roland: (Licking) Davis was convicted and sentenced to death for the 2000 aggravated murder of 86-year-old Elizabeth Sheeler in her Newark apartment. In 2004, Davis was connected to the crime through a match in the FBI’s DNA database. On July 20, 2006, Davis filed an application for additional DNA testing with his amended postconviction petition. On November 14, 2007, the trial court denied Davis’s application for DNA testing. The State, recognizing that Davis would continue to claim his deceased brother, Randy, was the actual killer, tested the DNA from the crime scene against Randy’s DNA, which was on file from the autopsy of his body following his death. In January 2009, the State notified the trial court that the testing excluded Randy as the source of the DNA left at the crime scene. (Note: On July 8, 2023, Davis died of natural causes.)

Johnson, Marvin Gaye: (Guernsey) Johnson was convicted and sentenced to death for the 2003 aggravated murder of 13-year-old Daniel Bailey at his mother's home in Cambridge. Johnson also raped and robbed his ex-girlfriend, Tina Bailey, Daniel's mother. DNA testing conducted at the time of trial indicated that blood on Johnson's t-shirt was consistent with Daniel's blood. In 2016, BCI had an initiative to test previously untested rape kits. Through that initiative, the rape kit of Tina Bailey taken in Johnson's case was tested. Results were consistent with Johnson having been the individual that raped Tina. These results were sent to the Attorney General's Office, the prosecutor's office, and Johnson's federal habeas attorneys. The federal district court permitted Johnson to hire an expert to review the results. Johnson's expert submitted a report to the court on January 24, 2017.

Spirko, John: (Van Wert) Spirko was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1982 aggravated murder of 48-year-old Betty Jane Mottinger in the village of Elgin. On October 28, 2004, and November 16, 2004, Spirko filed applications for DNA testing in the trial court. On March 10, 2005, the trial court denied Spirko's applications, concluding the DNA testing could not exonerate Spirko. On October 31, 2005, Spirko requested testing from the Ohio Attorney General to determine the presence of any other DNA contributors besides him on items collected from the murder scene. While the Attorney General was considering the request, Spirko brought a lawsuit in federal court alleging a constitutional right to DNA testing. The Attorney General agreed to provide testing to the extent that materials were available. Spirko subsequently withdrew his lawsuit. (Note: On January 9, 2008, Governor Strickland commuted Spirko's sentence to life in prison without the possibility of parole.)

Steffen, David: (Hamilton) Steffen was convicted and sentenced to death for the 1982 aggravated murder of 19-year-old Karen Range in her parents' Cincinnati home. Steffen insisted that he did not rape Ms. Range, although he killed her and thought about raping her. The Ohio Attorney General advocated for DNA testing of available evidence as the best means by which to determine the truth of Steffen's assertion. Despite Steffen's persistent opposition to DNA testing, the Attorney General proceeded with DNA testing on Ms. Range's rape kit, which was retained by the Hamilton County Coroner. On February 3, 2006, the trial court and Steffen's counsel were informed that the results excluded Steffen as a contributor of the genetic material recovered from Ms. Range. (Note: On March 31, 2016, Steffen was resentenced to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole.)

Other Death Sentences Removed Based on Judicial Action (87)

As of 12/31/23, a total of 87 death sentences have been removed as a result of some form of judicial action beyond the categories already mentioned.<sup>14</sup> For more information, please see the “Case History Sheets” sections which follow.

<sup>11</sup> This statistic does not include Steven Cepec because the State has filed an appeal to the trial court’s order of a new penalty phase trial. Should the State lose the appeal, his case will be reflected in this statistic in later editions of the Report. This statistic also does not include Von Clark Davis because the Warden has been granted en banc review of the Sixth Circuit panel’s grant of habeas relief. Should the Warden lose the appeal, Davis’s case will also be reflected here in later editions of the Report.

<sup>12</sup> This statistic does not include cases pending resentencing where the death penalty cannot, as a matter of law, be re-imposed. Those cases are included in “Other Death Sentences Removed Based on Judicial Action.”

<sup>13</sup> Nathaniel Jackson’s resentencing is stayed in the trial court pending the Warden’s appeal of the grant of habeas relief which ordered the resentencing. The case is in this statistic because the trial court began resentencing proceedings before the Warden took the appeal.

<sup>14</sup> This statistic does not include cases “Pending Resentencing” or “Pending Retrial” due to the fact that the death penalty could be re-imposed following resentencing or retrial.

Active Death Sentences (121)

As of 12/31/23, a total of 121 death sentences remained active,<sup>15</sup> including those currently pending in state and federal court.<sup>16</sup> In 2023, no individuals received a death sentence and were added to Death Row.

<sup>16</sup> Statistic includes those cases that are pending retrial or resentencing by order of a state or federal court because they remain eligible for re-imposition of a death sentence. Should they be resentenced to something less than a death sentence, the case will be removed from this statistic.

<sup>17</sup> This list includes only cases that have been reviewed in both state and federal court. Cases in which execution dates are issued following sentencing or after direct appeal are not included because those dates are ordinarily stayed pending postconviction and federal review.

The following case history sheets provide information on every case that has resulted in a death sentence in Ohio since 1981. Every effort has been made to obtain accurate information.

Active Cases Still on Death Row

Adams, Stanley T.

Summary of Crime: On 10/11/99, Adams murdered 43-year-old Esther Cook and her 12-year-old daughter, Ashley Cook, in their Warren home. Ms. Cook had previously allowed Adams to live with her and Ashley. Adams beat Ms. Cook to death, breaking her nose and ribs and causing severe trauma to her head, neck, chest, and abdomen. Adams raped Ashley, punched her multiple times in the mouth, hit her in the head, and strangled her with an electrical cord. DNA testing proved that the semen, found next to Ashley's nude body, belonged to Adams. (By the time of his trial for the Cooks' murders, Adams had been convicted and sentenced to 25 years to life for the 08/06/99 rape and murder of 40-year-old Roslyn Taylor of Poland Township.) (Adams was sentenced to death for both victims.)

On 07/15/14, Cepec filed a petition for postconviction relief in the trial court, which he amended on 12/22/14 and 01/12/17. On 03/27/19, the trial court dismissed Cepec's petition; on 08/19/19, the court of appeals dismissed Cepec's appeal based upon a lack of jurisdiction because the trial court failed to address all of his claims. On 02/23/21, the trial court denied several of Cepec's postconviction claims, but ordered a hearing on claims of ineffective assistance of counsel. On 01/13/22, Cepec filed a motion for funds for an expert to explore the issue of serious mental illness. On 03/07/22, the trial court held the evidentiary hearing on Cepec's postconviction claims. On 04/11/22, Cepec filed a successive postconviction petition alleging he was seriously mentally ill, which he withdrew on 07/07/22. On 10/17/22, the trial court found Cepec received ineffective assistance of counsel at mitigation but did not issue findings of fact and conclusions of law. On 01/13/23, the trial court ordered, consistent with its 10/17/22 entry, that Cepec should receive a new penalty phase trial. On 01/20/23, the State appealed, and on 02/08/23, Cepec filed a cross-appeal. On 03/20/23, the court of appeals denied Cepec's motion to remand the case to the trial court. On 08/18/23, the trial court clarified an issue with post-it notes on some of the trial exhibits in response to a question from the court of appeals. On 10/05/23, the State filed a merit brief; on 12/01/23, Cepec filed his merit brief. (Note: The State replied on 01/10/24; Cepec replied on 01/22/24.)

Summary of Crime: In September 2001, Conway murdered 20-year-old Andrew Dotson in Prairie Township. Conway feared Mr. Dotson would inform police about Conway’s involvement in an earlier shooting, so Conway told two friends, Mike Arthurs and Shawn Nightingale, to kill Mr. Dotson. Arthurs and Nightingale could not go through with the murder and brought Mr. Dotson back to Conway. Conway then took Mr. Dotson to a cornfield and stabbed him twice in the chest with a pickax. While later incarcerated, Conway tried to hire a fellow inmate to kill Arthurs. At the time of his trial, Conway was serving a death sentence for an unrelated 2002 murder. (Arthurs and Nightingale also received prison time for their involvement in the murder of Mr. Dotson.)

Hand, Gerald

Summary of Crime: On 01/15/02, Hand murdered his 58-year-old wife, Jill Hand, and longtime friend, 55-year-old Walter Welch, at Hand's home in Delaware County. Hand, who was in debt, hired Mr. Welch to kill Jill so that Hand could collect the insurance proceeds from a policy he had purchased in Jill's name. Hand fatally shot Jill and Mr. Welch. He then tried to make it appear that Mr. Welch killed Jill, and Hand, in return, killed Mr. Welch in an act of self-defense. DNA testing matched bloodstains found on Hand's clothes to Mr. Welch's DNA profile. At Hand's trial, the State presented evidence that Hand was involved in the 1976 and 1979 murders of two of his former wives. (Hand received the death penalty for the murders of both Jill and Mr. Welch.)

Hundley
Mahoning County

Summary of Crime: On 11/06/15, Hundley murdered 41-year-old Erika Huff in her Youngstown home by beating and strangling her. Ms. Huff, who had a child with Hundley’s brother, had permitted Hundley to stay with her prior to her murder. During her murder, Ms. Huff’s alert necklace was pressed which contacted paramedics and her mother, Denise Johnson. When paramedics responded Hundley told them Ms. Huff’s alert was pressed accidentally. But when Ms. Johnson arrived, Hundley attacked her with a hammer and stabbed her with a knife. Hundley placed Ms. Johnson with Ms. Huff’s lifeless body in a bedroom, set the room on fire, and then changed his clothes. Police rescued Ms. Johnson from the burning bedroom and located Hundley in the house where he claimed he too was a victim. Police recovered the bag of Hundley’s clothing containing Ms. Johnson’s blood, and Hundley’s DNA was found under Ms. Huff’s fingernails.

Summary of Crime: In the early morning of 06/18/09, Jackson murdered 38-year-old Tracy L. Pickryl by shooting her during an aggravated robbery of the Soap Opera Laundry store in Cleveland. Jackson waited until customers left the store before entering, brandishing a firearm and demanding money from Ms. Pickryl and her co-worker, 27-year-old Christy Diaz. When Ms. Pickryl hesitated to comply with Jackson’s demands, he shot her in the head. He then aimed the gun at Ms. Diaz and demanded she retrieve the store’s money. Despite her compliance, Jackson also attempted to shoot Ms. Diaz. The aggravated robbery was part of a crime spree in June 2009 that included robberies in Cuyahoga, Erie, and Lorain counties. # Lawson, Arron

Summary of Crime: On 10/11/17, Lawson murdered 24-year-old Stacey Holston, Stacey's 8-year old son, Devin Holston, Stacey's 43-year-old mother, Tammy McGuire, and Stacey's 50-year-old stepfather, Donald McGuire, and attempted to murder Stacey's husband, Todd Holston, in the Holstons' home. On the morning of the murders, Lawson entered the home via a window he previously opened and waited for Todd to go to work and Devin to go to school. Lawson then shot Stacey three times with a shotgun and raped her. Lawson, pretending to be Devin's father, called the school to have Devin ride the bus home, and waited, killing Devin when he arrived home. Tammy and Donald went to check on Stacey after Todd had not been able to reach her during the day. Lawson shot and killed Tammy and Donald when they entered. Upon arrival, Todd entered the house, and Lawson stabbed him several times, and then fled in the McGuire's truck. Todd survived and identified Lawson as his attacker. After a two-day manhunt, Lawson surrendered and confessed. (Lawson received the death penalty for all four murders.)

McGuire, Dennis

McGuire
Preble County

Summary of Crime: On 02/11/89, McGuire raped and murdered a pregnant woman, 22-year-old Joy Stewart, in a wooded area near Bantas Creek. Ms. Stewart had met McGuire that day when he was performing work on her friend's house. McGuire raped Ms. Stewart, choked her, and stabbed her in the neck and shoulder. While in jail for an unrelated kidnapping charge, McGuire attempted to bargain with police by implicating his relative as the rapist-murderer, but police suspected McGuire because he knew significant facts that were not disclosed to the public. DNA testing, conducted in 1992 and again in 2002 during federal appeals, identified McGuire as the source of the semen found in Ms. Stewart's rectum.

Grant, Rosalie

Summary of Crime: On 04/01/83, Grant murdered her children, 2-year-old Joseph and 1-year-old Donovan, by setting fire to the bedroom of their house in Youngstown. Grant was the only adult in the house at the time of the intentionally set fire and made no attempts to save the children. Several smaller fires, unreported to the authorities, had been set in her basement, including one in the fuse box designed to appear like an electrical fire. The boys' bedroom fire smelled of an accelerant similar to the one used in the fuse box fire. A sample of the accelerant was taken from the fuse box, and it was found to be very similar to charcoal lighter fluid found in a can in an abandoned house near Grant's home. The can showed Grant's fingerprints. In the month prior to the murder, Grant purchased $5,000 worth of life insurance for each of the boys but none for her other daughter who lived with Grant's grandmother.

Summary of Crime: Green murdered 70-year-old Tommie Willis in his home. Green, along with her companion, went to Willis' home to sell him a $40 book of food stamps. After completing the transaction, they used the money to purchase and use a small quantity of cocaine. Wanting more, they returned to Mr. Willis' home under the false pretense of buying liquor when in fact they planned to rob him. Mr. Willis suspected they were about to rob him and produced a knife to defend himself. Green then wrestled with Mr. Willis and managed to take the knife from him. Green proceeded to stab Mr. Willis numerous times in the neck and chest. Her friend also joined in the stabbing, resulting in approximately 100 wounds. Before leaving, they stole Mr. Willis' money and some liquor.

NOTES

On 05/11/05, the Ohio Supreme Court affirmed Turner's conviction and death sentence on direct appeal. On 06/15/07, Turner filed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus in district court. On 04/22/11, the magistrate judge recommended the denial of the writ, which the district court found moot on 03/21/13 because Turner was granted leave to amend his petition. On 05/30/13, over the Warden's objections, Turner amended his petition to raise claims challenging the constitutionality of lethal injection. Following several amendments, on 12/08/17 and 12/27/17, the magistrate judge recommended the dismissal of the lethal injection claims. Turner objected on 01/24/18, and the Warden responded on 01/25/18. On 04/08/22, Turner filed in the trial court a successive petition for postconviction relief alleging he is ineligible for the death penalty due to serious mental illness. Turner filed an amended petition on 10/04/22. On 02/01/23, the trial court ordered Turner be evaluated for serious mental illness. On 08/07/23, the trial court found Turner seriously mentally ill under R.C. 2929.025(A)(1) and vacated his death sentences. On 10/25/23, the trial court resentenced Turner to life imprisonment without the possibility of parole on both aggravated murder counts. On 12/20/23, Turner filed with the district court a notice of intent to amend his habeas petition in light of his resentencing. (Note: On 02/01/24, the magistrate judge recommended Turner's habeas petition be dismissed for mootness; Turner objected on 02/13/24; the Warden responded on 02/27/24.)
